The organization/company receiving the information is called the Receiving Party and the company disclosing the information is called the Disclosing Party.
- 2. The confidential information as disclosed by the party is not to be used for any commercial or otherwise beneficial purposes and is to be used only to be discussed between the two parties. The receiving party is not supposed to disclose the information to anyone other than the employees and subcontractors required to be privy to this information. The receiving party is not allowed to use the information to build any prototypes or other tangible objects that violate the confidentiality of the agreement unless agreed upon by both parties.
- 3. The receiving party shall take utmost care to ensure that the confidential information received from the disclosing party is protected. All employees and subcontractors who have access to the information will be made to sign a similar non-use and non-disclosure agreement to protect the information. There will be no copies made of the information unless previously agreed upon. In an event that the confidential information is disclosed the receiving party will immediately inform the disclosing party.
- 4. The disclosure of confidential information does not in any way make either party obligatory of any transaction. Both parties reserve the right to termination of discussion as and when they contemplate important.
- 5. All information provided by the disclosing party is as is and there is no warranty about the accuracy of the same.
- 6. All documents and copies of the information will be returned to the disclosing party by the receiving party at the termination of the agreement.
